

Your Current Conservation Efforts

Irrigation

Your lawn may not need as much water as you think. Try adjusting how long you water and see how your lawn responds.

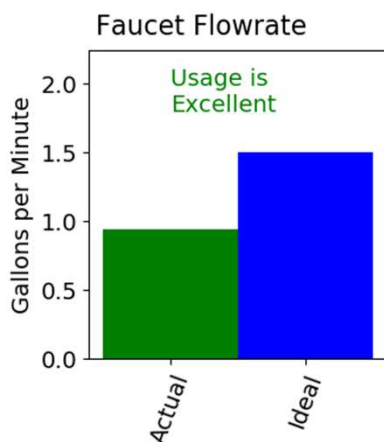

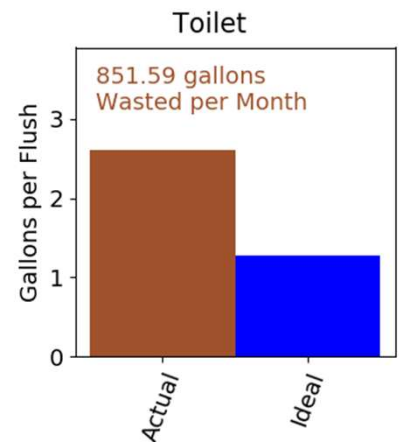

Watering in the morning is most effective since it reduces how much water is lost to evaporation, but you already seem to know this!

Indoor Usage

You appear to be using low flowrate shower heads. Good job!

You may want to consider using water-conserving toilets.

You appear to be using low flowrate faucets. Good Job!

Reducing shower lengths by just a couple minutes can have a big impact on your water usage.

